Featuring Captain Tammie Jo Shults

Pilot, Author & Inspirational Speaker and Philanthropist

Captain Shults is a former Southwest Airlines pilot and captain of the crippled Southwest 1380 flight, which made an emergency landing in Philadelphia after an unexpected engine failure and rapid depressurization. She became a carrier qualified Navy pilot and was one of the first women to go through A-7 weapons training, as well as being one of the first to fly the F/A-18 Hornet.
